

Irish Traditional Music, Song and Stories with master musicians and balladeer from Ireland.

DANNY O'FLAHERTY + MULVIHILL, CARBERRY & BROUDER

Irish balladeer and storyteller Danny O'Flaherty joins three masters of Irish traditional music, Brendan Mulvihill (fiddle), Angelina Carberry (banjo), and Dan Brouder (accordion). Danny is a native Irish speaker from the Gaeltect (Gail-tuck) region of Connemara on the West Coast of Ireland. Much of his time growing up was spent around the turf fire listening to songs and stories of his elders, and this instilled in him the desire to pass the music on! He is a singer, songwriter and performer of Folk and Celtic music and is dedicated to preserving the heritage of our ancestors.

Brendan Mulvihill, coming from County Limerick in Ireland, is a world renowned Irish fiddler, teacher and composer. Brendan teams up once again with Ireland's Music and Culture TV (TG4 Gradam Ceoil's) 2021 Musician of the Year, Angelina Carberry, and Dan Brouder, a well-respected exponent of the West Limerick accordion style. Both Carberry and Brouder have been praised by The Irish Times for their "well-earned reputation as a banjo/accordion duo who let the tunes do the talking."

Made possible with travel support from Culture Ireland

Cultúr Éireann Culture Ireland

Oct. 13: 2 pm

University of St. Thomas

Jones Hall

3910 Yoakum Blvd.,

Houston, TX 77006

Cost: Free and open to the public

RSVP for those with mobility issues and groups of 6 or more

713-525-3583;

patrick.mccarty@stthom.edu

Parking: $10 in the Moran Center, corner of W. Alabama and Graustark, 3807 Graustark, Houston, TX 77006